

Automatic, Touch-Free HandCleansing System

According to the experts, hand washing is the single most important step in breaking the chain of cross contamination and reducing the risk of passing on infection. The Neutrallé Automatic HandCleanser promotes good health and overcomes hygiene and maintenance problems in the washroom by using a touch-free sensor in the dispenser that automatically detects when a user is present

NEUTRALLE®

Advancements through OneShot technology

The Touch-Free Automatic HandCleanser dispenser is one of the world's first counter-mounted systems using state-of-the-art sensor technology. Each battery-powered dispenser is fully guaranteed against defects in parts and workmanship for two years. Since the user never touches the dispenser, it helps to eliminate cross contamination and messy clogs and drips.
